

Boston, July 16, 1851.

Dear Friend May:

As our friend Wallcut has opened this letter, (according to the discretion you left with him,) to see what are its contents, I improve the opportunity to say, that I saw some of the Hubbardston friends, at Gardner, and promised them I would attend a conventional meeting in H. on Sunday, August 3rd; so you may make the arrangements accordingly. Who will be with me on the occasion? One will be sufficient, and I should like to have your company, if convenient. I think two speakers are sufficient at the meetings, besides it being more economical. The collection at G. was $12.50 above the local expenses.

I am willing to go to Lowell on the 10th, but should like to make it a sine qua non that Phillips shall go with me. We must try to bring it about, if we can.

I hope to meet you at Milford on Sunday.

The accompanying letter of Oliver C. Gilbert has not been answered.

I will speak to friend Jackson about seeing Twitchell immediately.

My best regards to Mrs. May & family.

Faithfully yours,
Wm. Lloyd Garrison.
